Home - Making

Today's student will be tomorrow's homemaker and citizen. Realizing this the girls' vocational homemaking department, under the guidance of Miss Olga Coleman, Mrs. Margaret Davis, Miss Patricia LeDonne and Miss Sara Seitz, offers an extensive program to meet the complex program of everyday living.

After two years in this course the girls are equipped with knowledge and techniques in foods and nutrition; and in the construction of dresses, suits, and coats. Art and science, as applied to home and clothing, are included in this course. In addition to these, the course offers a semester of work in each of the following subjects:—consumer buying, vocations allied to homemaking, housing and home management, child care and training, home nursing and hygiene, family relationships and personal etiquette, and hobbies.

Not only will this course enable the girls to become efficient homemakers, but with a careful selection of subjects from ninth grade on, they will be prepared to enter college or to enter nurses' training.

Vocational

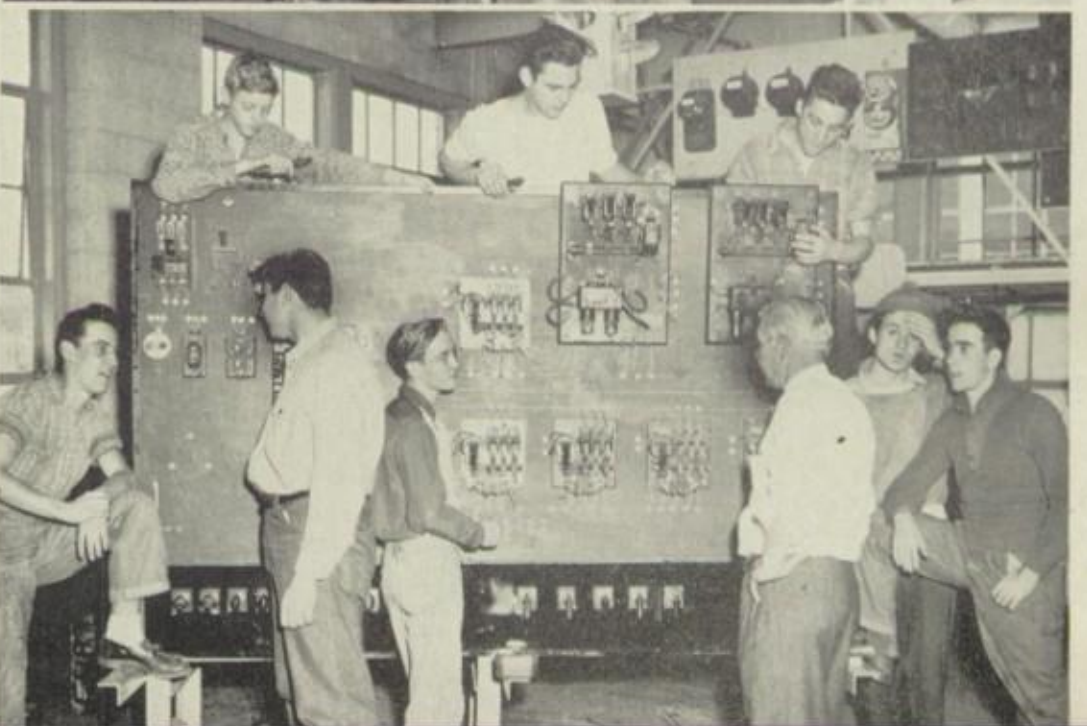

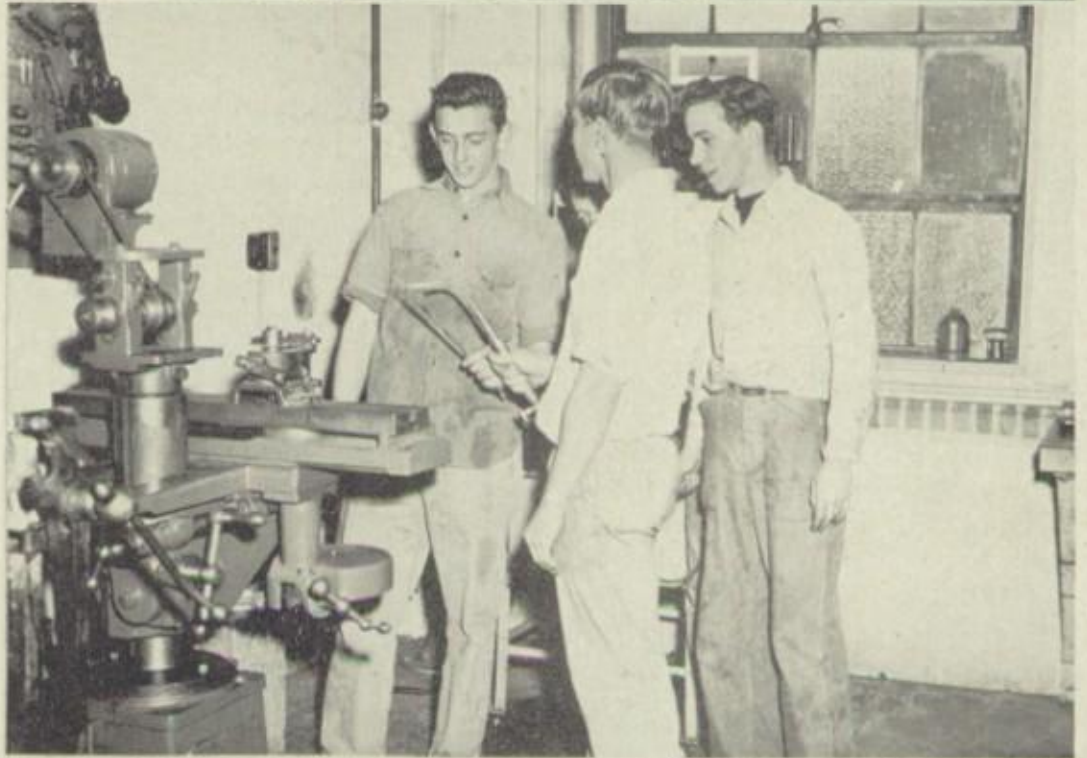

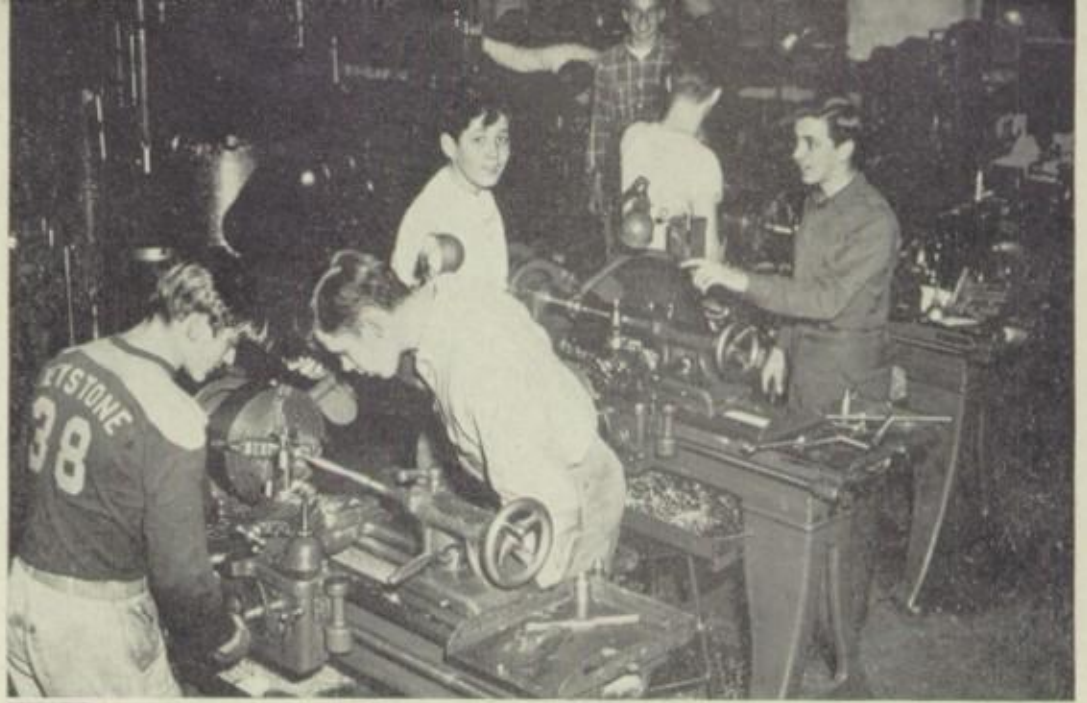

The main objectives of vocational education are to develop such of the basis manipulative and technical skills needed by the student tradesman under existing conditions, to develop desirable trade ideals and attitudes, to develop trade pride and responsibility and to give the learner general all around training so he will be able to obtain a broad foundation on which to build for advancement in his trade. The objective levels may be stated as the acquisition of information, appreciation, and doing ability.

In the electric department, the boys are familiarized with shop equipment, took their care, use, and maintenance. The principals of motor and generator windings, connection, and uses are taught and instruction is given in simple blue print reading in this shop.

The boys are taught the names of the tools, their care, use, and maintenance in the machine shop. They are instructed how to use shop machines, such as lathes, shapers, milling machines, and planers, properly. Also included in this course is simple blue print readings and the proper handling of shop materials.

The aim of the auto shop is to teach the boys the basic principles of the automobile. Due to the limited time element, it is better to give the boys these principles, which will make him a better apprentice and more valuable to his employer, than to make finished mechanics.

Math - Science

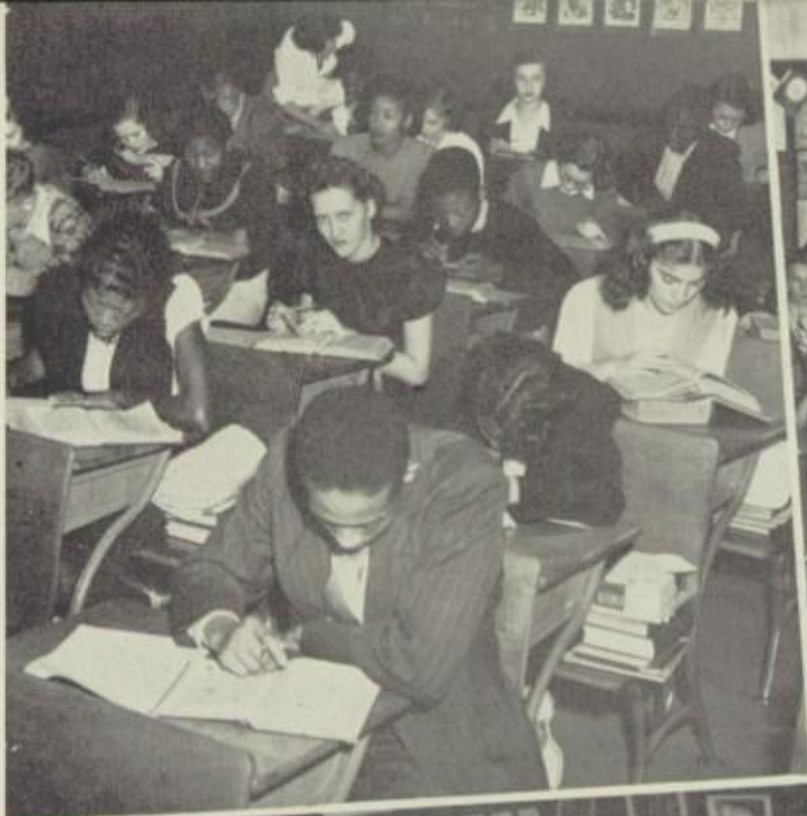

The mathematics and science departments are two of the most fascinating in Clairton High School. It is here that the student learns a difficult chemical formula or discovers the easiest way to find the altitude of a triangle. Here the potential engineer, chemist, or physicist is given a firm foundation for the rest of his life. The student is prepared to live in a world of peace through science, but math, the basis of scientific problems must also be mastered. It also teaches the student to think for himself. The teachers are able to make the student understand every little detail in his course. Mr. Edgar Bleiler and Mr. Harold Wilkinson explain the principles of biology to the sophomores. If you are puzzled by $C_{12}H_{22}O_{11}$, Mr. Kay Chrestensen of our chemistry department is sure to help you. The brave seniors attempt to learn the rate at which a body falls from the physics instructor, Mr. Larry Critchfield. Mr. Charles Patton explains the basic theorems of plane geometry. Miss Jane Walker teaches general mathematics and Miss Agnes Lytle takes care of algebra I and II. If you like a few jokes along with your math, you will take algebra II, trig., or solid from Mr. John Soich. We in Clairton High School are fortunate to have such excellent math and science teachers.

English-Social Studies

Our schools should be a Service Station of Education. This is a deliberate choice of phrase, for a school should be as close to the community and its needs as is the gasoline service station. This service station of education should develop creative arts and aid in the solution of leisure time. Our English courses stress both of these developments. More than grammar is stressed in these classes, where students have as a primary purpose appreciation of their own tongue. The study of literature enriches thinking, oral and written composition provide opportunity for self-expression.

Our history teachers unfolded history and showed us how past events influence every aspect of our modern life. Problems of Democracy proved of particular interest. We had often heard of banking, court trials, and the President's cabinet. Now we know how to preside over a court room, plead a case, and analyze the tense problems of strikes, now current throughout our country.

Como esto' vd?

Parlez-vous Francais?

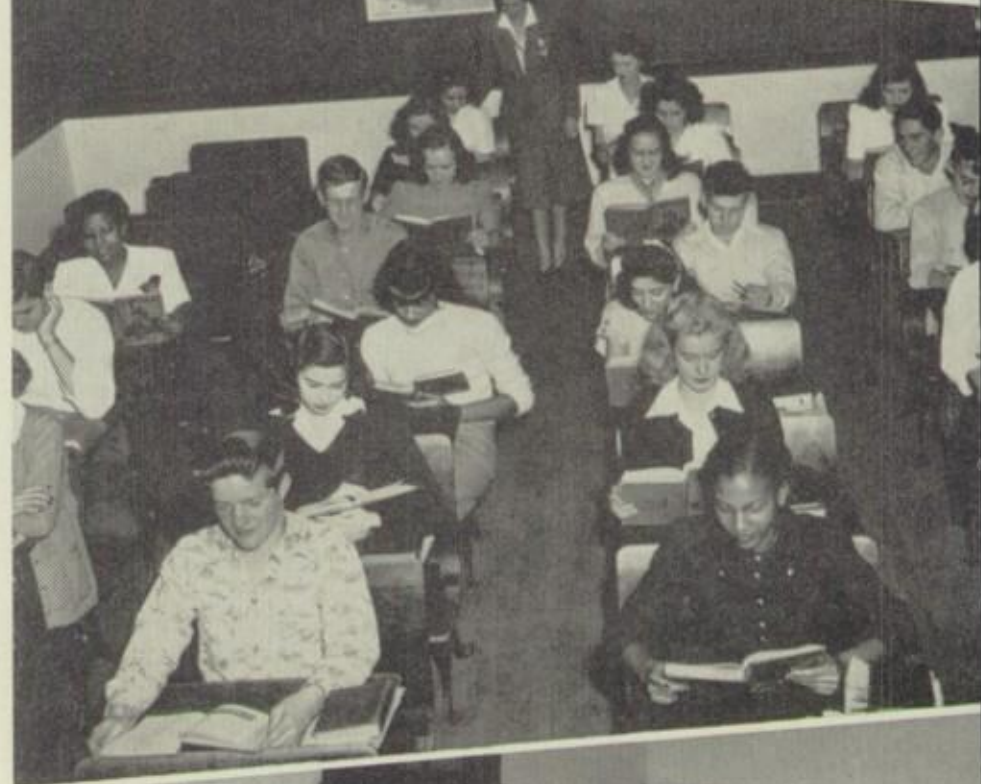

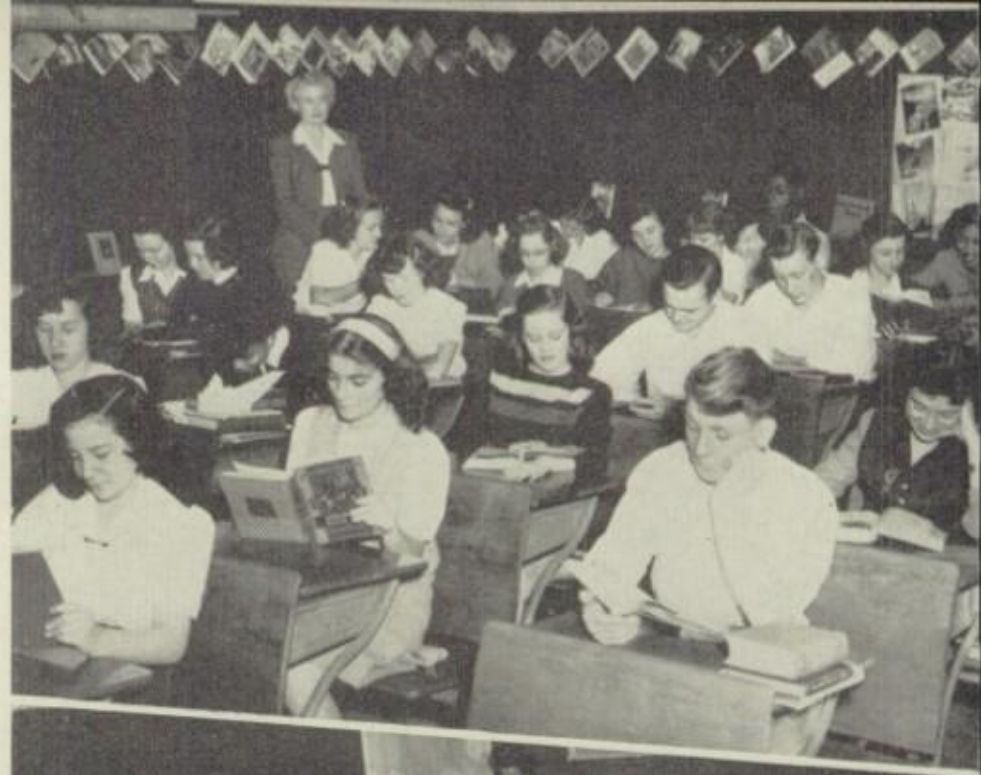

Commercial Languages

The click-click-click of the typewriters increases steadily as one approaches the right rear section of the third floor. There capable teachers instruct students daily in the Commercial studies. Skilled typists are taught by Miss Frances Ortner, Miss Lucille Patterson, and Miss Rose Schepis who also teaches General Business. Miss Martha Marovich instructs our future secretaries. She is aided in this work by Miss Alberta Trimble and Miss Schepis who teaches shorthand and Mr. John Young who teaches bookkeeping, salesmanship, and business law. One who learns well what these instructors teach should be a good office worker.

If you would walk into a classroom only to find yourself hearing yet not understanding, you may be certain that you were in one of the language classes. The first foreign language studied in high school is Latin. In some cases, the experience is little more than an exposure. The declensions and conjugations presented by Miss Emma Will seem "esto perpetuum" for large numbers. A few survive and are firmly convinced that the Romans were a very intellectual and powerful people. French allures many. The very romanticism of France itself attracts students. Paris is synonymous with gaiety so we worry over "parlez-vous Francais" and "au revoir". Spanish, too, attracts many students who wish to learn, under the guidance of Miss Maloy and Miss Ryan, the customs of the Spanish people.

Speed and Accuracy

Hum of the Busy Bees

Physical Education

The gym and swimming classes are well attended, not only because attendance determines your grade, but because of the fun they have. They of course, are somewhat sore from the over-exertion of human croquet, cannonball, basketball, and calisthenics—but still they never learn.

After getting into the spirit of the sports, many of the boys have the idea to go on with the season's sport—whether it be football, basketball, swimming, baseball, or track. The girls are not left out however. Intramural games are played by the girls' choice teams. They compete with one another in volleyball, basketball, and bowling. Only the winners are awarded letters, whereas in boys' sports, the ones with credit for participation will receive an award.

Service Personnel

The women behind the men would be an appropriate name given to our efficient office staff. Those endless small tasks that arise so often in the front office are quickly and efficiently taken care of by the office secretaries. Beside these, there are many routine jobs to be taken care of everyday. Those students who continually lose or forget their locker keys, or the ones who are absent every other day and must get their absentee cards are the "favorites" of the office force. For Seniors the ladies of the office perform many duties such as, making out the class ratings, giving out scholarship information, and sending transcripts of grades to colleges.

Notice how nice the lawn around the school looks, when it is not covered by paper thrown by the students. Also notice the clean walls and floors that greet our eyes in September. Who is responsible for this? Why, the janitors of course. Our staff of janitors keep us warm in winter and cool in summer. They keep our auditorium, rooms and halls clean from dirt and paper. In the spring, the janitors provide an interesting sight for listless students when they cut the grass around the school.

And of course we must not forget that man who is largely responsible for our high school's high attendance, Mr. St. Clair.

No more janitors at C. H. S.—just coal miners.

Cafeteria

Are you good at riddles? Then try this one. What sounds like, yet is not, the Grand Central Station? Of course! You have guessed it—the cafeteria at noon time.

From the time the noon dismissal bell rings until about twelve-fifteen, the cafeteria certainly is a busy place. Stairways are crowded and long lines are formed at the ticket and lunch counters. A delicious aroma pervades the air and the sight of the delectable food whets your appetite so that it is very difficult to make a choice. You just want to eat everything.

Confusion is everywhere as you leave the serving line to hunt for a seat, or at least, a place to set your tray. There is a continuous scraping of chairs and babbling of many voices as friends call to one another to save them a seat or to inquire about a test, to be given that afternoon. But in the midst of all the tumult the food is eaten and the trays are emptied and put aside.

Then when your appetite has been appeased, the time is taken to look around to notice those silhouettes on the back wall. They are really quite unique and the two toned blue goes well on the light cream walls. Members of the art classes contributed this big improvement to our cafeteria.

Graduation is over for the class of "48" but the events and memories of past years linger still in our hearts and minds. We all, at one time or another, have been guilty of wishing those all important years away. But during and after the Commencement exercises we have wished that, in some strange way, we could return and start anew. Even when we received our diplomas, we could not make ourselves believe that we had to leave those many happy hours behind and keep only the memories.

As these memories pass in review we cannot help but think of the many exciting minutes spent in watching our football and basketball teams in action, our swimming team—the pride of our class which won their second W. P. I. A. L. Championship, the Prom with its gala dressings, lovely gowns and sharply creased suits, the importance of escorting that favorite girl, also the many tests we worried and fretted over until past midnight, our first taste of government in student council with its many discussions on student problems.

The final parting of friends—both teachers and students, which we have made down through the years—has come. We must leave this castle of guidance and go out on our own. Let us use the knowledge given to us to attain the goal set before us.

In Memoriam

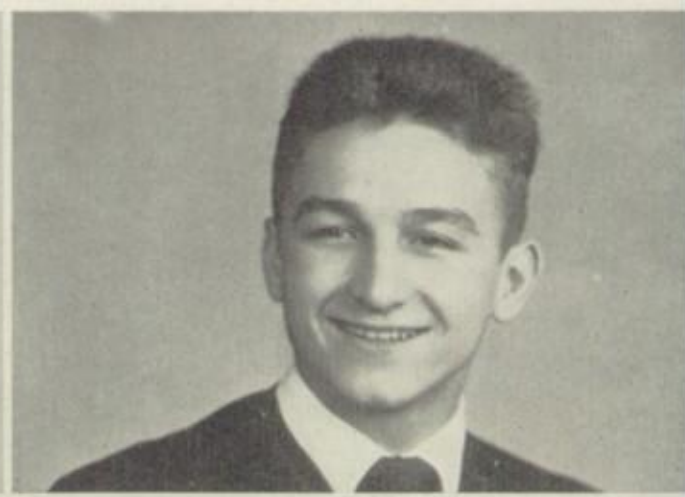

CECELIA COOK

Cecelia was born at Clairton, Pennsylvania on December 21, 1931; she died on December 19, 1946 of spinal meningitis after a week's illness. As a member of the Clairton student body, she compiled a good scholastic record. A member of the girls chorus, Cecelia was also an outstanding art student. Before her illness, Cecelia was very happy for she was looking forward to Christmas—the first one that she would have spent with her father. He was a member of the Merchant Marines and was almost always away from home.

OFFICERS

President	Allan Phillips
Vice-President	George Pascoe
Secretary	Alice Ellis
Treasurer	Joan Capul

We are the forty-niners—President, Allan Phillips; Vice-president, George Pascoe; Secretary, Alice Ellis; and Treasurer, Joan Capul.

Like the forty-niners of a hundred years ago we have uncovered gold. Our gold dust was the proceeds from selling Christmas decorations, stationery, and magazine subscriptions. We sponsored several Antrim programs and movies which added to our pile of gold. We also had a hand in the big social successes of the year. The first big success was the hilarious "Sadie Hawkins" party where everyone tried to look his worst—and succeeded. Then came the Christmas Dance and the Hobo Party.

The Easter play, "The Three Sons," was presented by the Junior Dramatic Club. The play was a novel, beautiful and inspiring pageant ably portrayed and directed.

The crowning event was the Spring Prom. This year starry eyed lads and lassies danced slowly in a jungle atmosphere to the dreamy music of the Maestro Tommy Carlyn. This Junior Formal will never be forgotten.

We, the class of 1949, want our class to be the best, our school to be the best, and our peace to be the best. We pray that those youths who danced under the soft lights at the Prom, will never be compelled to exchange their colorfully garbed partners for the shining steel of weapons of war.

" 'Tis granted, and no plainer truth appears,
Our most important are our earliest years;
The mind, impressible and soft, with ease
Imbibes and copies what it hears and sees;
And though life's labyrinth holds fast the clue
That education gives it, false or true."

Senior Council

We, as the governing group of the Junior Class sponsored the Annual Prom and Junior Class play and published the handbook for the incoming Sophomores. Besides this we had a hand in making the parties of this year gala events especially the Sadie Hawkins Shindig! Our money making projects were selling Christmas decorations, stationery, and sponsoring two antrim programs.

Room 42 has been a busy place this year during the seventh periods. Here, the Editorial Staff of the Annual, under the supervision of Miss Agnes Lytle, met daily to work on the '48 Clairtonian Year Book. Their job, by no means a small one, was to plan the book, obtain the necessary material and arrange it.

The Business Staff, headed by Miss Rose

Schepis, also had a large job selling the annuals and obtaining money to defer the cost. To raise the needed money they have sold Kleen-Leen, candy, and magazine subscriptions.

The team work of these two staffs, along with skillful artists and typists was necessary for the Annual's success.

THE CLAIRTONIAN NEWS

The boss and the art editor.

Things and people sometimes become a little grim in 101 as the deadline hour approaches, but the many after-school hours put in by the Clairtonian News staff pay off six times during the year with regular issues and once for a Christmas Special.

The editorial staff, chosen at the beginning of the school term from the previous year's reporters, hold their positions only so long as they produce well-planned, well-written pages on time. Margaret Buchina and Larry Clipper are co-editors; Frank Jones and Joyce Weir, news editors; Lenora Maxwell and Shirley Arnett, feature editors; and Don Shaw, sports editor.

All students who wish to write for the newspaper go through a six-weeks training period in which they are taught the fundamentals of newspaper writing and the specific practices of the Clairtonian News. Then they choose the page for which they wish to write and are assigned to work with that editor. The rest of their careers is spent turning in copy and digging up the latest in news, editorials and special features.

Page Editors.

The newspaper is an interesting activity. The work is hard and takes a lot of time, but newspaper people reap a rich reward in experience and memories. They will always remember those after-school sessions, working hard at their pages against a background of Margaret's clacking typewriter, Frank's jokes that Joyce tears apart, Clipper's clowning, Don's wanting to go home, Shirley's lecturing on the fine art of writing interviews, and Lenora's filling in with "My, I'm hungry!"

"PAPA SAYS NO"

"Papa Says No" was an amusing play about a wealthy father who objected to his daughter's engagement. Hoping to break it up, Mr. Page, the father, took his daughter, Janet, to Florida. But Jack Prescott, who believed in standing up for his rights, followed them.

Avoiding Mr. Page was a job which Jack did with the utmost efficiency with the help of Pete Carter and his mother.

Miss Watts, a meddlesome old maid, did her best to keep everyone in a state of confusion and also tried to win the heart of Alonzo K. Page but lost to Helen Carter.

In the end, Helen Carter and Mr. Page became engaged, and of course, Jack and Janet got married and lived happily ever after.

Our Band

Clairton High cannot claim the band that maneuvers under orange and black as exclusively its own. Everyone in town imagines it belonging in part to him.

This colorful reputation, built by years of achievements, does not stop at city limits either. By traveling miles each year to football games and contests, residents of other Pennsylvania cities are constantly impressed by a band that is often considered "The best."

History tells of past bands that have the standard established. Our 1947-1948 band has well maintained it. Being a band member necessitates a student to cease functioning individually and become a cog in the proverbial wheel. Sacrifice of time is given to an extent many would not believe. Before school began last September the band had been drilling nightly at the stadium to be ready for the first football game. While the team was drubbing East Pittsburgh, orange and black uniforms were just as fascinating at half-time. To get new shows ready each week was far from easy, but the pace never slackened. Everything from battleships to Oldsmobiles dazzled audiences throughout the season.

Floodlight marches yielded to more serious music after November. By spring forensic competition was the big thing, and kept the band well occupied days, nights, and weekends.

Mr. Rotili, who has volunteered myriad hours to create something—special, not only succeeded in this attempt, but has gained the everlasting admiration of all his students.

Orchestra

Today Clairton High School students are encouraged to study music. The department lends almost any kind of instrument to a student interested in this art. Many students accept this opportunity to acquire a first-hand foundation in music.

The discordant din of tuning instruments, a sudden sharp rap on the music stand, and Mr. Rutilio Rotili began his daily orchestra practice. Some forty odd members worked long and hard on "March Slav" by Tchaikowsky, "Carmen" Grand Selection by Bizet, and "Fifth Symphony" by Beethoven.

The orchestra performs many times during the school year at assembly programs and the Christmas Cantata. This organization has proved itself indispensable at Baccalaureate and Commencement services. We seldom think of the many services which our orchestra renders, but how we would miss it if it failed to perform.

Music

As in past years, the lower hall has been the birthplace of many different sounds—some discordant music and some very rich in beauty and harmony. The trumpet trio, the flute quartet, and the brass sextet varied sounds. They worked very hard this year, in preparation for the Forensic contests. As preliminaries to the contest, they performed in assembly programs at different times during the year, and, on the radio, as participants in the high school program. These small groups are happy in the fact that they are composed of juniors and sophomores so will play better together next year after the valuable training which they have received this year.

National Honor Society

The Honor Society occupies a prominent position in school life as an organization whose membership has been selected from the leaders of the Senior class. Character, scholarship, leadership, and willingness to serve are the four qualities one must possess in order to gain membership. To be eligible, a student must maintain an average of 90 throughout his high school career and be a participant in one or more extracurricular activities. However, most members belong to several interest groups. Juniors who have met the requirements are "tapped" in May. That is, the old members turn the government of the Society over to the students who will belong the next year in an assembly. This assembly is held to acquaint the student body with those who have been selected as members and to spur the student body to greater effort. Many a hard-working boy or girl has been rewarded by membership in this organization.

The Honor Society is unique, for, although some of the most active students in school belong, it is more of an honorary group than an active one. The members are given the opportunity of wearing an emblem pin which is the torch of knowledge on a keystone.

Clairton has had an Honor Society for eighteen years. The charter for a chapter of the National Honor Society was granted in 1930. The purpose of the Honor Society is to encourage scholarship and character development.

There are thirteen members in the present group which Miss Amelia Opacic sponsors. The officers are: Janice Nelson, president; Bob Royle, vice president; and Dorothy Sanovich, secretary-treasurer.

Librarians

Please tell me if "The Babe Ruth Story" is in. "Where is Seventeenth Summer"? What happened to "The Biography of George Washington Carver"? Many of these questions are asked of the hard-working librarians.

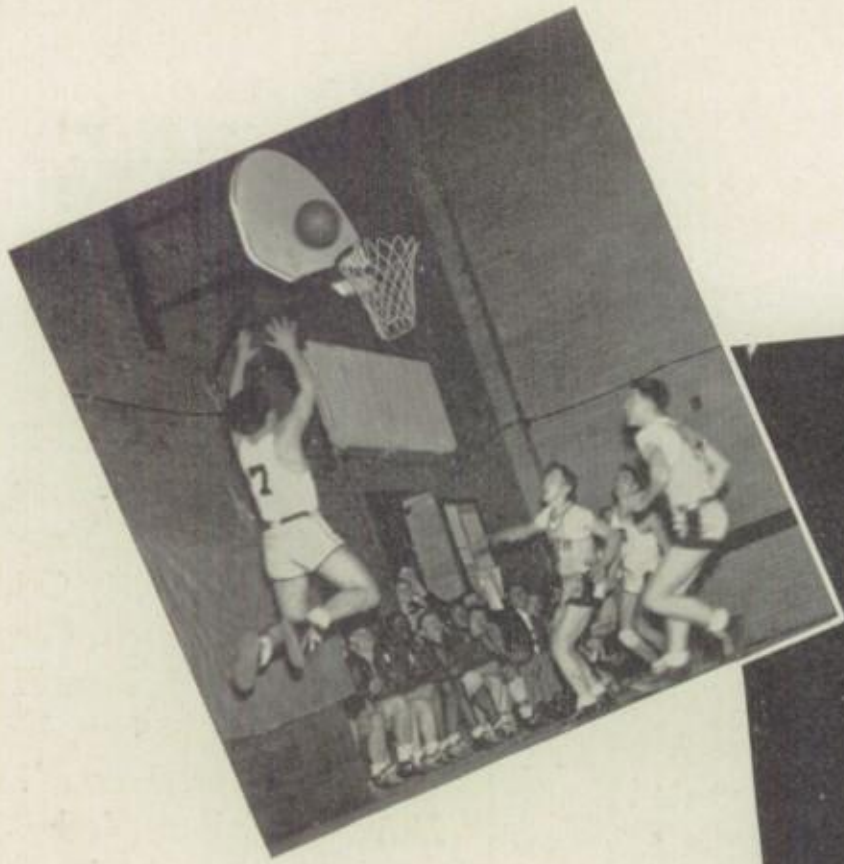

To be a librarian under Miss Janet Nixon, school librarian, you must be willing to give two of your study periods to this work. One period is spent preparing books for the shelves, not to mention shellacking and labeling new books, the other period is spent at the desk where all incoming and outgoing books are marked.

Library work well done is rewarded. A student librarian receives a pin for two years of service. The Christmas party was a second way of saying, "Thank you."

Coach Harold G. Wilkinson

Football

The 1947 football campaign was started by a victory over East Pittsburgh and was a season of improvements. The team reached its peak with a win over a strong Monessen team.

Glassport, with one of its best teams, defeated a somewhat over-confident Bear team. The fighting Bears then played a tie game at Mon City. The tigers clawed the Bears with one of the greatest teams McKeesport ever had. Donora turned a seemingly victorious comeback into defeat by scoring fourteen points in the second half. The gun sounded with the Bears inches from a touchdown and holding nine points. Injuries traveled with the team making Ellwood City's two touchdowns better than the Bears. The Charleroi Cougars were outfought and outscored when captain John Phillips raced thirty yards for a touchdown. A heavier Turtle Creek team defeated the Bears in a hard fought battle. The Duquesne jinx continued to work on the team.

Basketball Season

Under its able mentor, Mr. Soich, the 1948 version of the Clairton Bears came up with a record of sixteen wins and six losses. Coming up with a one two punch in John Kovalyak and Danny Hill, the Bears had the top scores in section six.

Starting off the season with nine straight victories, the Bears looked like early season favorites in the district. Hampered by injuries and plagued by bad luck, this victory string ran out on January 9, when they were defeated by Homestead. Unable to produce under the pressure of section play, the Bruins faltered and ended up the season with a sectional record of four wins against eight defeats.

Hardwood Heroes

John Yanik—A good consistent rebound man. Was worth his weight in gold. A real loss to the squad next year where it will be felt.

John Perticone—A little fellow who did everything well—exceptionally well.

John Kovalyak—The best all around basketball player Clairton ever produced. Leading section six scorer.

Danny Hill—Highest three year average in scoring. Was one of the "goal dust" twins with Kovalyak.

Jim Sykes—Although he played only one year he was the most improved ball player on the squad.

John Primorach—Was a number one ball handler and did a good job.

Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association of Clairton Senior High was organized in 1943 by Miss Laura Belle Hess. The purpose of the organization is to better relationships among the students, aid weaker girls in athletic skills, promote good sportsmanship and aid in the Girls' Intramural Program.

All sophomore, junior, and senior girls are eligible for membership. Election to the Association is by the unanimous vote of all the members. To be considered for membership a girl must have distinguished herself in at least one sport, be in the upper ten per cent of her class athletically, and have definite good sportsmanship qualities.

New members are taken into the group after each major sport. A pledge goes through a hazing period in which she must abide by certain initiation rules. When the pledgee has met the informal requirements, she is sworn into the group during a solemn formal initiation.

The girls hold social affairs at the Clairton Lodge every month. The year is started by the usual alumni party. At the end of the year an annual picnic is held for the graduating members. They are presented with a gift from the sophomore and junior members.

The G. A. A. sponsors the three major sport tournaments—volleyball, basketball, and bowling. At the present time the G. A. A. has thirty-two members and has an alumni of fifty-six members.

The G. A. A. members may easily be distinguished by their emblems of G. A. A. in black chenille on an orange background which is worn on a black sweater every Friday when the weather permits.

The Dead

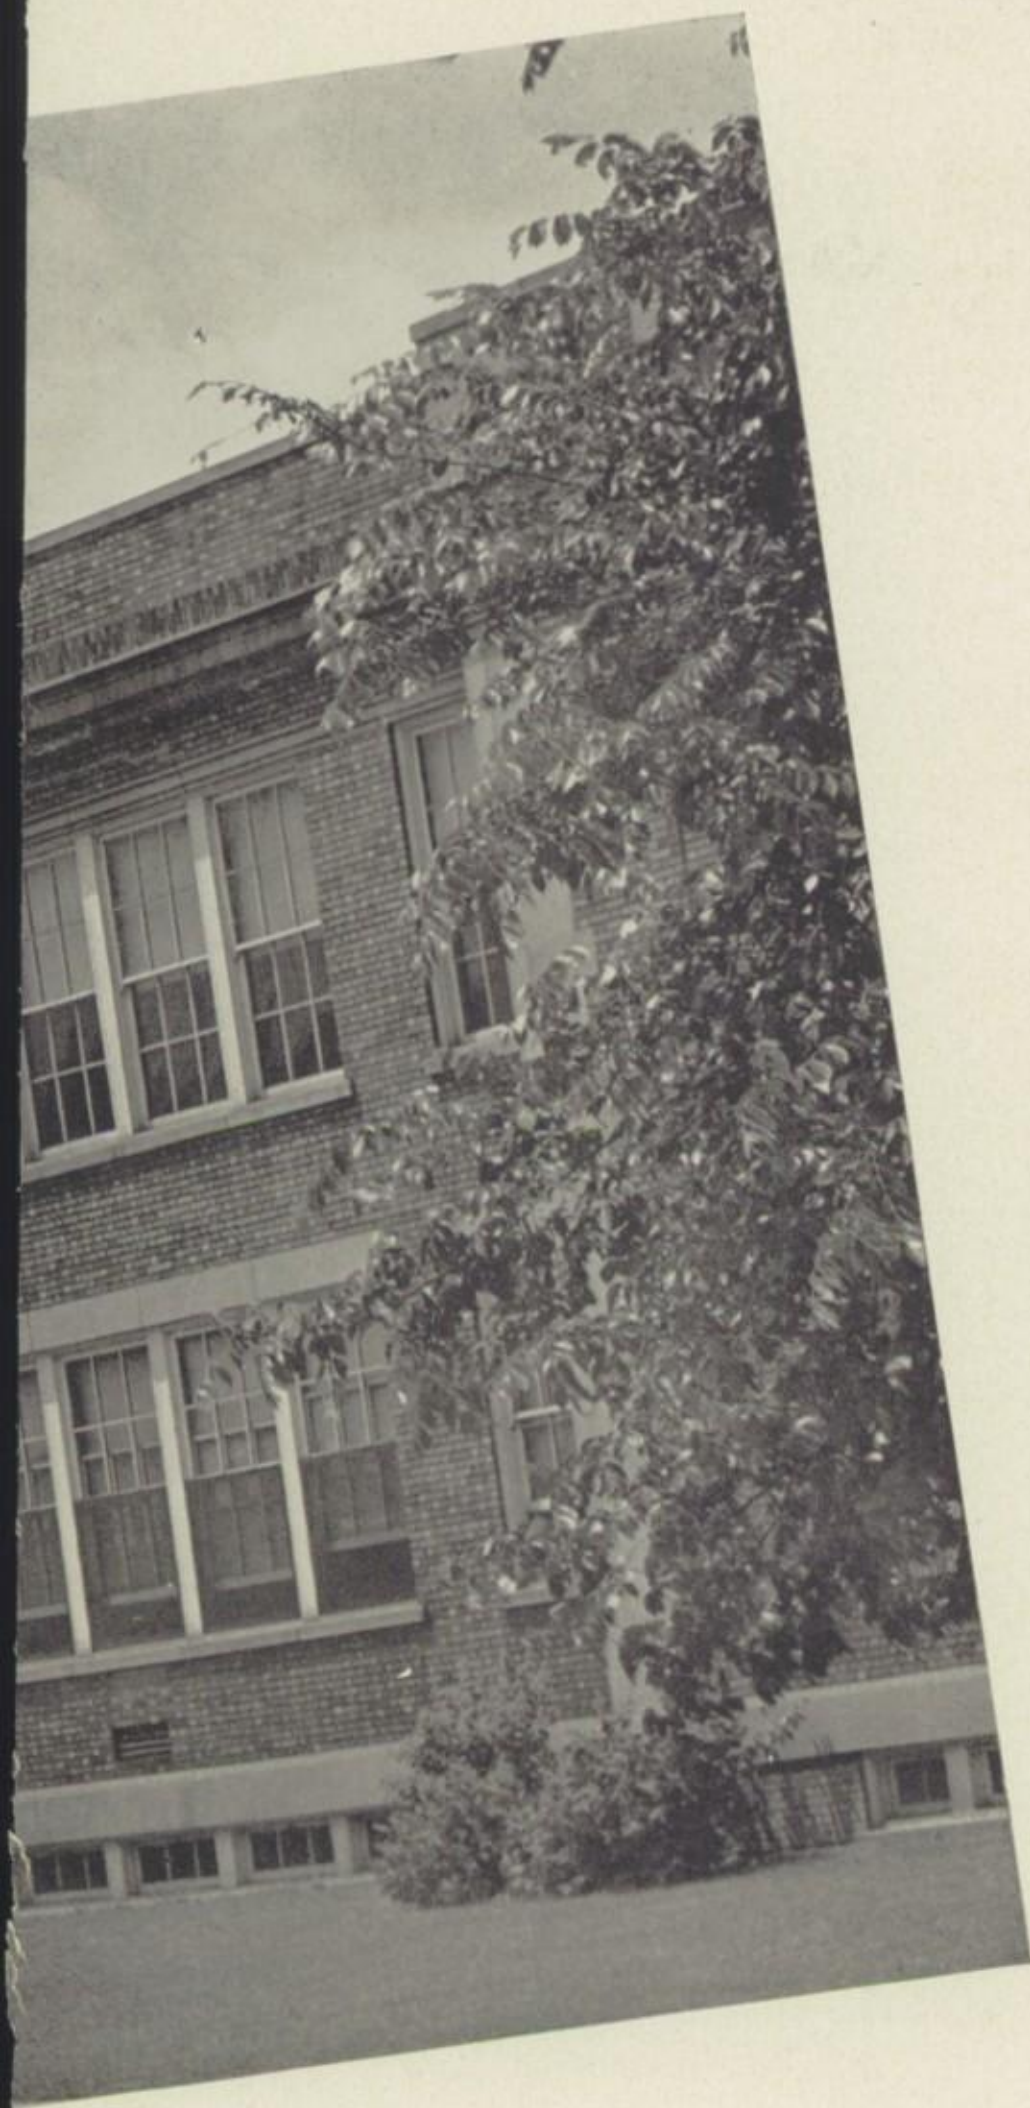

These hearts were woven of human joys and cares,
Washed marvelously with sorrow, swift to mirth.
The years had given them kindness. Dawn was theirs,
And sunset, and the colors of the earth.
These had seen movement, and heard music; known
Slumber and waking; loved; gone proudly friended;
Felt the quick stir of wonder; sat alone;
Touched flowers and furs and cheeks. All this is ended.
There are waters blown by changing winds to laughter
And lit by the rich skies, all day. And after,
Frost, with a gesture, stays the waves that dance
And wandering loveliness. He leaves a white
Unbroken glory, a gathered radiance,
A width, a shining peace, under the night.

This year we have been twice saddened by the presence of death in our very midst—Mr. Stilley and Mr. Obradovich.

Mr. Joseph W. Stilley was born at Finleyville, Pennsylvania August 21, 1882. He resided at Charleroi and later at McKeesport before coming to Clairton. While at Charleroi, he played class A baseball. On November 11, 1903, Mr. Stilley was injured in the Clairton mill where he was a crane operator. After being injured, Mr. Stilley served the city of Clairton first as a mail carrier and later as the truant officer for forty-one years. It was as truant officer that we all learned to know and love him. No one in and about school ever attained to his height of popularity. Mr. Stilley was friend to everyone who knew him and everyone was his friend. He died November 14, 1947.

Mr. Milan Obradovich was born November 20, 1895 in Yugoslavia. When a lad in his teens, he came to America and settled in Clairton. Soon after arriving here he went to work in the mill where he was an engineer on the mill railroad. Later he came to work in our high school as a janitor. This position he held until the time of his death—February 13, 1948. We as students at CHS knew Mr. Obradovich as the quiet little janitor who was always busy.

Alma Mater

We hail thee Alma Mater,
Our voices raised on high
With loyalty unfailing, and
Love that shall not die.
We hail thee Clairton High School
Let praises ever ring,
To thee dear Alma Mater
Undying love we bring.
